LACE BASE TAPE PLACEMENT

Here are some tips for Lace Base Tape Placement:

- Many people leave lace completely unattached, which causes rising of the base.
- Eventually, about two weeks into it, problematic issues begin to happen when the guest is shampooing, including premature lifting from the base.
- When taping, tape into the lace, depending on how much is exposed.
- It needs to be attached at least partially, so it's laying it down to the surface.
- We lay it down just behind the knots of the hair to ensure that we're not into the hair, but right over the edge of the polymer tape tab area.
- Make sure to lay the tape over the top of the edge and not into the hair, so it's not exposed, yet it is secure.
- When peeling it off, it now has the ability to lay down and has the security of the bond/adhesive, securing it to the scalp.
